Beauty Secrets of Beautiful Women ::

Christine Norman's Rules For the "Too-Thin" Woman

By Lillian Lanfieri.

CHRISTINE Norman is exactly the sort of girl you would be if you could choose—pretty, sweet, gracious, alert, honest with herself and sympathetic with all of life. And if you have seen "Face of My Heart" you would never guess it!

In that play she has to play the part of a girl whose cold, self-centered, unsympathetic nature makes life a burden for the dear little Irish cousin. But the girl of the play, and enter Christine Norman and joy to the heart of the interviewer at the same time.

Miss Norman's manner is as wholesome and unaffected as her own pretty pink and white room, and her mind is as interestingly many-sided as the vast array of hardy differing books that are so prevalent all about her room.

Advice To the Lovelorn

By Beatrice Fairfax.

DON'T TRY.
DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I am a boy 18 years of age. As I was walking on the street the other day I saw a girl who I had never seen before, but I loved her very much the moment I saw her.

What I want to know is how to get friends with that girl.
ALBERT.
Love at sight is such a pretty dream it is a pity to spoil it by getting acquainted.

You are 18—the age to be devoted to making a man of yourself. Bend your energies in that direction, and let love alone for a few years. Under no circumstances should you attempt to form an acquaintance with a girl you happen to meet on the street.

CERTAINLY NOT.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I am very much in love with a boy. I am 17 and he is 18. He has kissed me a great many times, but now he has stopped writing me, and I have not heard from him for some time. I cried all last night about him.

Would you write him?
NANCY.
You have been very foolish, and his coldness is no more than what you should expect.

Do not write him, and the next time you have a lover, refuse to be so generous with marks of your affection. Trust this experience will prove to you that you are too young to have a lover.

MOST DECIDEDLY NOT.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I am 21, and a two-years-my-senior has made an appointment with me and at the same time with my friend. Would it be fitting for me to keep it, and also, is it proper for him to make the appointment for the same time and place?

He is flirting with you, I am sure, and if "by appointment" you mean to meet on some street corner you owe it to yourself to refuse to meet him there, he was alone. Ask him to come to your home for you; his reply will give you some insight into his character.

THE FATHER IS RIGHT.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I am 20 and have known a young

To Look and Feel Bright in Hot Weather

(From The Woman Beautiful.)
This is the season when she who would have a rose-like complexion, lustrous hair, and hands, should turn her thoughts to mercurized wax. The wax literally absorbs the scorched, discolored, withered or coarsened epidermis, bringing forth a brand new skin, clear, soft and irresistibly beautiful. It also removes the pores, removing black heads and increasing the skin's breathing capacity. An ounce of mercurized wax, obtainable at any drug store, applied nightly like cold cream, and washed off morning will gradually improve the worst complexion.

When depressed by the heat and you want to freshen up for the evening, bathe the face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered sassafras in a half pint witch hazel. You'll find this more refreshing than an hour's rest. It is fine for smoothing out wrinkles, even the deeper ones—Advertisement.
